

Dates: October 17th & 18th, 2006

Time: 8:00 AM—4:00PM

Location: 5050 Commerce Drive
Baldwin Park, California

RSVP: Mary Dice
858-694-2799
mary.dice@sdcounty.ca.gov

Exit at Live Oak:

SCVEC

Southern California Vector Education Cooperative
Presents
Vector Control CEU Training

October 17th & 18th, 2006
Baldwin Park, California
Hosted by
Los Angeles County
Department of Health Services
Vector-Borne Disease Surveillance

Session 1

Forensic Entomology: 1.0 C

‘They’re small but have a big story to tell.’

Gail VanGordon, R.E.H.S., M.S. Public Health Entomologist, LAC, DHS

Respirator Safety: 0.5 A

‘Making the right choices and getting the perfect fit’

Michael Jordan, Industrial Hygienist. Environmental Hygiene Program LAC, DHS

Bioterrorism Preparedness: 0.5 A

Robyn Spano, R.E.H.S, EHS III, Vector-Borne Disease Surveillance, LAC, DHS

Downtown Norway Rat Project: Update: 0.5 D

And

Tularemia: Vertebrate Host Relationships: 0.5 D

Michael Rood, R.E.H.S., EHS III, Vector-Borne Disease Surveillance, LAC, DHS

Roaches Have Ridges: 1.0 C

Mary Dice, VCT III, San Diego County, Vector Control Program

The Los Angeles County Plague Suppression Program in the Angeles National Forest as it Relates to the Control of California Ground Squirrels: 1.0 A

Jim Hartman, Acting Deputy Agricultural Commissioner/Sealer, Pest Management Division, LAC Agricultural Commissioner/Weights and Measures Department

Mosquito Control: 1.0 B

Are Larvacides the Essence of Proactive Disease

Control? The talk will discuss various larvacides, aerial calibration techniques, methods used by San Diego to avoid pesticide resistance, and solutions devised to gain access to difficult-to-reach sites.

Chris Wickham, Supervisor San Diego County, Vector Control Program

Session 2

Poisonous Spiders of the World: 1.0 C

Marco Metzger, Ph.D., Senior Public Health Biologist, CDHS

Tick-borne Diseases in California: An Update: 1.0 C

Renje Hu, Ph.D., Supervising public Health Biologist, CDHS

Bed Bugs: The Facts and Fiction: 1.0 C

Laura Krueger, MPH, Associate Public Health Biologist, CDHS

City Slinkers and Their Flesh Eating Pals: 1.0 D

‘The California Carnivores of Public Health Importance’

Richard Davis, Ph. D., Senior Public health Biologist, CDHS

Raptor Ecology and West Nile Virus: 1.0 D

A Double Whammy?

Joe Burns, Senior Public Health Biologist, CDHS

Human Plague in Los Angeles: Following the Vertebrate Trail: 1.0 D

Joe Ramirez, R.E.H.S., EHS III, Vector-Borne Disease Surveillance, LAC, DHS

Session 1: A=2 B=1 C=2 D=1 Approval #07-00061

Session 2: C=3 D=3 Approval #07-00062

Lunch, coffee and beverages on your own

Please RSVP soonest as space is limited:

Contact Mary Dice

mary.dice@sdcounty.ca.gov